

ISL Education Lending's Return on College Investment Tool

Larry: So, Brandon, I guess congratulations are in order.

Brandon: Thanks, Uncle Larry. Hard to believe my high school days are already over.

Larry: So what's next? Your parents mentioned you're going to college?

Brandon: Yeah. I even got accepted into my first choice. I'm really excited to start in the fall.

Larry: Well, what's in store for your future? Have you thought about careers?

Brandon: Oh, I've got it all planned out!

[Crashing bells]

[Record scratch]

Narrator: Whoa! Slow down there Brandon. Time for a reality check.

Achieving your dreams is possible but you need a solid foundation of financial literacy and college planning first.

Tools like ROCI Reality Check allow you to see which majors can help you achieve the lifestyle you want after graduation. And by exploring careers now, you can see how each one may affect the amount you can afford to borrow.
